

Janie Dubois, PhD

Laboratory Capacity Building for Food Safety

2113 Bishops Castle Dr.
Olney, MD 20832, USA
+1(301) 570-2991
janie.dubois@gmail.com

EXPERIENCE

University of Maryland, USA — Director of IFSTL

2011 - PRESENT

Director and lead instructor at the International Food Safety Training Laboratory, collaborating with World Bank, Inter American Development Bank, Asian Development Bank, US Department of Agriculture, United Nations Industrial Development Organization, Food and Agriculture Organization, US Food and Drug Administration and numerous foreign governments.

Malvern Instruments, USA — Product Manager

2005 - 2011

Specialist in chemical imaging and particle analysis, with focus on pharmaceutical product quality by design and other industrial applications.

US Food and Drug Administration, USA — Visiting Scientist

2003 - 2005

Research in spectroscopic and chemometrics-based recognition of bacterial pathogens involved in foodborne outbreaks.

National Research Council Canada, Canada — Research Officer

2001 - 2003

Specialist in combinations of chemical, magnetic resonance and visible imaging techniques for the diagnosis of infectious diseases, with primary focus on prion diseases.

Education

MSc and PhD Food Science and Agricultural Chemistry

BSc Food Science and Technology

LANGUAGES

French and English

INTERNSHIPS

Topics: Labelling and quality assurance